Indian equity markets are expected to open lower on Tuesday, July 21, 2026. GIFT Nifty is trading at 24,170, down approximately 90 points (-0.37%) from Monday's Nifty futures close, indicating a weak start after Monday's profit-booking session. Investors remain cautious amid the lack of fresh positive domestic triggers and mixed global market sentiment. Market participants continue to monitor developments surrounding the US-Iran diplomatic process, while crude oil prices remain stable, preventing any major risk-off reaction. Global investors are also focused on upcoming US economic data and expectations regarding the Federal Reserve's policy path, which could influence foreign institutional flows into emerging markets. Domestically, the ongoing earnings season is expected to drive stock-specific action, with stronger-than-expected corporate results likely to support selective sectors. Technically, despite today's expected gap-down opening, the broader market structure remains constructive as long as Nifty sustains above the key 24,000 support zone. However, a sustained break below 24,200 could increase short-term selling pressure and delay the next leg of the recovery.

Nifty 50 Performance

Monday's Nifty 50 opened at 24,190.05, touched a high of 24,266.10, a low of 24,135.85, and closed at 24,238.50, down 95.80 points (-0.39%). GIFT Nifty at 24,170 signals a gap-down opening of around 90 points, indicating the index may open near the 24,150 zone. The index continues to trade above the crucial 24,200–24,000 support band despite Monday's decline, suggesting that the broader uptrend remains intact. RSI has eased slightly to the 56–58 zone, reflecting moderation in bullish momentum while remaining comfortably above the neutral level. The MACD continues to improve with bearish momentum fading, indicating that the recent decline is more likely a consolidation than the beginning of a fresh downtrend. A sustained move back above 24,300 could revive buying momentum towards 24,500, while a close below 24,200 may lead to extended consolidation towards 24,000.

Nifty Technical Levels

Support: 24,200, 24,000, 23,800

Resistance: 24,300, 24,500, 24,800

Bank Nifty Performance

Monday's Bank Nifty opened at 57,738.25, touched a high of 58,111.00, a low of 57,533.10, and closed at 57,945.00, down 576.40 points (-0.98%). GIFT Nifty's weak indication suggests Bank Nifty may open near the 57,600–57,700 zone. After witnessing profit booking on Monday, the index continues to hold above the important 57,500 support level, indicating that buyers remain active at lower levels. RSI has cooled to the 56–58 range, reflecting a healthy correction after the recent rally. The MACD continues to weaken on the downside, suggesting selling pressure is gradually easing. A sustained move above 58,100 could trigger fresh buying towards 58,500–59,000, while a close below 57,500 may increase the probability of a retest of the 57,000 support level.

Bank Nifty Technical Levels

Support: 57,500, 57,000, 56,500

Resistance: 58,100, 58,500, 59,000

Asian Stocks Rebound on Chips Rally, Oil Declines

Asian equities rose for the first time in four days as investors returned to chipmakers, driving a rebound in the sector after the recent selloff. Oil declined. The MSCI Asia Pacific Index climbed 1.5%, with chip giants Samsung Electronics Co. and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Co. the two biggest contributors. Benchmark gauges in South Korea and Taiwan both gained more than 2.5%. Japan's Nikkei 225 Stock Average rose 1.7% after slipping into correction territory on Friday, as trading resumed following a long weekend. US equity-index futures reversed earlier losses, with contracts for the Nasdaq 100 Index rising as much as 0.5%. Earlier, a gauge of US chip stocks rebounded from last week's selloff. Also supporting sentiment was a pullback in oil. Brent crude fell 0.6% to about $88.70 a barrel even as traders watched for disruptions to Saudi Arabian exports after Houthi rebels threatened to blockade an export route through the Red Sea. Worries that higher energy costs may boost inflation weighed on bonds Monday.

US Concludes Latest Strikes on Iran as Houthis Threaten Blockade

- US forces struck Iranian targets after President Donald Trump vowed Tehran "will pay" for killing three US soldiers.
- The operation targeted "military command centers, maritime capabilities, missile and drone launch sites, and air defense systems to degrade Iran's ability to continue attacking commercial vessels flowing through the Strait of Hormuz," according to US Central Command.
- Iran said mediators were in touch with proposals on how to ease hostilities, but tensions remain high and the conflict looked set to expand further after Tehran-backed Houthi militants in Yemen threatened to blockade Saudi Arabia in the Red Sea.

Tropical Storm Bertha Forms, Threatens Floods Across Gulf Coast

A slow-moving system sweeping across the northern Gulf of Mexico has strengthened into Tropical Storm Bertha, the second named storm of the year. Bertha is expected to drench the region with as much as 8 inches (20 centimeters) of rain this week, and officials are warning of potential flash flooding from the Florida panhandle to Texas, according to a notice from the National Hurricane Center. The storm is now about 190 miles southeast of Mobile, Alabama, with maximum sustained winds of 40 miles per hour. Bertha is lumbering west-northwest, tracking toward key energy facilities. The Gulf region accounts for about 13% of US crude production and 1% of natural gas output, and more than half of the nation's oil refining capacity. Tropical Storm Arthur skirted the Texas coast in June, bringing heavy rains before it dissipated.

FDA Walks Back Positive Lab Test in Cyclospora Outbreak

The Food and Drug Administration withdrew an earlier positive test that had tied Taylor Farms' lettuce to the cyclospora outbreak, even as health officials reiterated Monday the supplier remains a focus of their investigation. The false positive doesn't change the scope of the current recall, but it could prevent it from expanding. The FDA had said Saturday that it had found a positive test linking cyclospora to Taylor Farms' lettuce that wasn't part of the current recall, suggesting it could widen. But by Sunday evening, the agency said it had reexamined the sample and determined the result was a false positive. Donald Prater, acting deputy commissioner for food at the FDA, said Monday that the agency discovered the false positive result during a quality check by laboratory staff.

US Vows Fresh 50% Tariff on Canada as New Trade War Looms

The Trump administration vowed to impose a fresh 50% tariff on some Canadian goods over what it said was unfair treatment of American alcohol, cars and dairy, further inflaming trade tensions between the two neighbors. The items subject to the new tariff include milk, hockey equipment, beer and plywood — but not major resource imports such as energy, potash and critical minerals. Goods covered by separate duties on industries, including autos and steel, will also be spared. Crucially, for the items on the new tariff list, there will be no exemptions for exporters shipping under the rules of the existing North American trade pact between the US, Canada and Mexico. The Canadian dollar dipped on the news, then recovered to trade at around C$1.407 per US dollar shortly after 8 p.m. New York time. If Trump follows through with the levies, which are set to take effect in 30 days, the move would mark one of the most severe trade actions he's taken against the US's second-largest trading partner. But the president has made such threats before, only to pull back after negotiations or because of market concerns. He signed a proclamation ordering the tariffs earlier Monday.

China Broadens Market Rescue with Record Inflows Into Tech ETF

- China is stepping up efforts to stabilize its stock market, mobilizing state-linked institutions to stem a tech-driven selloff.
- Support is coming from China's largest insurers, with at least five pledging to boost investments, and state-backed asset managers signaling support.
- Authorities are deploying a broader arsenal to stabilize AI and semiconductor shares, seeking to prevent the tech selloff from snowballing into a broader market confidence crisis.
