Indian equity markets are expected to open lower on Wednesday, July 22, 2026. GIFT Nifty is trading at 24,106, down approximately 63 points (-0.26%) from Tuesday's Nifty futures close, indicating a weak start after Tuesday's session saw the index slip below the crucial 24,200 support zone. Investors remain cautious amid the absence of fresh positive domestic triggers and continued profit-booking pressure at higher levels. Market participants continue to track global cues, including US economic data and the Federal Reserve's policy trajectory, which could influence foreign institutional flows into emerging markets. Domestically, the ongoing earnings season remains the key driver of stock-specific action, with results-driven moves likely to dominate sentiment in the absence of a clear broader trend. Technically, with today's expected gap-down opening, the near-term structure turns cautious as long as Nifty remains below the 24,200 zone. A sustained hold above the 24,000 support would keep the broader consolidation range intact, while a break below could open the door to deeper weakness towards 23,800.

Nifty 50 Performance

Tuesday's Nifty 50 opened at 24,216.05, touched a high of 24,262.20, a low of 24,135.65, and closed at 24,187.70, down 50.80 points (-0.21%). GIFT Nifty at 24,106 signals a gap-down opening of around 63 points, indicating the index may open near the 24,120–24,130 zone. The index closed below the crucial 24,200 support on Tuesday, marking a shift from the consolidation seen over the previous two sessions and suggesting near-term momentum has weakened. RSI has eased further, reflecting continued moderation in bullish momentum, though it remains above the neutral level. The MACD bearish crossover persists, with sellers active on every up-move, as seen in Tuesday's rejection from the 24,262 high. A sustained move back above 24,200–24,300 could revive buying momentum towards 24,500, while continued weakness below 24,000 may lead to extended consolidation towards 23,800.

Nifty Technical Levels

Support: 24,000, 23,800, 23,600

Resistance: 24,200, 24,300, 24,500

Bank Nifty Performance

Tuesday's Bank Nifty opened at 57,853.75, touched a high of 58,228.65, a low of 57,803.85, and closed at 57,835.35, down 109.65 points (-0.19%). GIFT Nifty's weak indication suggests Bank Nifty may open with a similar negative bias, tracking broader market weakness. After briefly crossing 58,100 intraday and giving up those gains, the index continues to hold above the important 57,500 support level, indicating buyers remain active at lower levels despite the weak close. RSI has cooled further, reflecting continued easing after the recent rally, while the MACD bearish crossover remains active, signaling persistent selling pressure near resistance. A sustained move above 58,100–58,228 could trigger fresh buying towards 58,500–59,000, while a close below 57,500 may increase the probability of a retest of the 57,000 support level.

Bank Nifty Technical Levels

Support: 57,500, 57,000, 56,500

Resistance: 58,100, 58,500, 59,000

Asian Stocks Advance on Tech Rally, Oil Climbs

Stocks in Asia climbed for a second day as chipmakers at the heart of the artificial intelligence boom extended their rebound, offsetting concerns over rising oil prices after renewed escalation in the US-Iran conflict. MSCI's Asia Pacific equities gauge rose 1.5%, extending Tuesday's biggest one-day gain in a month. South Korea's Kospi, a bellwether for AI investments, jumped 6% as the unwinding of leveraged bets that drove the benchmark nearly 30% below its peak appeared to be nearing its end. Stocks in Japan and Taiwan also advanced. Elsewhere, crude oil prices climbed, reigniting inflation concerns that pushed Treasury yields to their highest in two months. Brent rose 1.6% to about $92.50 a barrel after US President Donald Trump minimized the prospect of immediate talks with Iran. Traders are also focused on the yen, which slid past 163 per dollar on Tuesday for the first time since 1986, increasingly testing Japanese authorities' resolve to intervene.

Trump Plays Down Prospects of Iran Talks Amid Red Sea Threat

President Donald Trump minimized the prospect of immediate talks with Iran as the two sides exchanged strikes and Houthi militants in Yemen threatened shipping in the Red Sea. Trump vowed on Tuesday to respond if the Iran-backed group disrupted that waterway, but didn't specify how. His comments came after a wave of US and Iranian attacks and as mediators continued efforts to restart negotiations. Oil prices ticked higher amid the threats to key routes for global energy supplies.

Asia's Fuel Importers Seen Facing 'Geopolitical Flux' for Years

Asia's reliance on fossil fuel imports will potentially keep nations exposed to global volatility in energy supplies for decades, according to a veteran observer of the region. About 90% of Asia's primary energy use still comes from oil, gas and coal. Rising demand, coupled with a lack of major new fuel discoveries, is likely to keep the region dependent on overseas supplies, Vandana Hari, founder of Singapore-based Vanda Insights, said.

Trump Sets 100% Tariff on Generic Drugs With Two-Year Delay

- Generic drug manufacturers will have two years to move production to the US or face a 100% import duty from August 2028, according to President Donald Trump.
- The levy would then double to 200% in August 2029, as part of an effort to "RESHORE Generic Pharmaceutical Production into America".
- Makers of generic drugs have fewer options to absorb tariffs due to thin margins and global manufacturing networks, with India expected to be significantly affected as the biggest exporter of generic medicines to the US.

Yen Slides Past 163 Mark to Fresh Four-Decade Low Against Dollar

The yen slid past 163 per dollar for the first time since 1986, extending its decline and further testing Japanese authorities' resolve to intervene. Japan's currency fell as much as 0.5% to 163.24 per dollar overnight as the greenback strengthened alongside US Treasury yields after renewed tensions in the US-Iran conflict drove oil prices higher. It traded little changed at 163.12 after Finance Minister Satsuki Katayama reiterated that authorities can take "bold steps" any time as needed.
