Indian equity markets are expected to open flat on Wednesday, May 27, 2026, tracking GIFT Nifty at 23,905 — down approximately 9 points (-0.04%) from Tuesday's close — as markets stabilise after yesterday's monthly expiry pullback, with the Iran MoU framework still unsigned but advancing through final wording negotiations. A senior US official confirmed it could take a few more days before the MoU between the US and Iran is finalised, citing a prolonged process in getting Iran's sign-off on the pact's language — while the US believes Iran has agreed in principle to the deal's major points, there is a continued back-and-forth over wording requiring a lengthy approval process from the Iranian side. Iran's Majles Speaker Ghalibaf — the lead negotiator — traveled to Qatar for talks on the MoU on Monday, after Qatari officials had visited Tehran in recent days to discuss unfreezing more than $6 billion in Iranian assets held at Qatar National Bank — a crucial unlock that Iran has made a condition of signing. US officials confirmed the deal has been agreed in principle with Iran — the Supreme Leader Ayatollah Mojtaba Khamenei has endorsed the broad template — though nothing has been signed yet and final sign-off from both Trump and Khamenei is required. Both sides would sign a 60-day MoU that can be extended by mutual consent — during which the Strait of Hormuz would be open with no tolls and Iran would clear its deployed mines, in exchange for the US lifting its naval blockade and issuing sanctions waivers allowing Iran to sell oil freely. Overall, the GIFT Nifty's near-flat indication reflects a market patiently holding its position as the final MoU wording is completed — the deal's structural framework is confirmed and agreed in principle, making the signing a matter of when, not if. "Buy on dips toward 23,800–23,900" is the operative strategy.

Nifty 50 Performance

Tuesday's Nifty 50 opened at 24,004.10, touched a high of 24,089.80, a low of 23,885.45, and closed at 23,913.70 — down 117.90 points (-0.49%) — a monthly expiry day pullback from Monday's 24,031 breakout, with the session low of 23,885 holding above the 23,800 structural support. GIFT Nifty at 23,905 signals a flat open near Tuesday's close — the post-expiry session consolidates the recovery above 23,800. The "couple of points" of wording still under discussion between Washington and Tehran are the only obstacle between the current market range and a signing-driven gap-up. RSI at 51–52 zone — neutral, holding above 50 for a second consecutive session, the first such reading since the May 11 corrective phase. MACD bullish crossover confirmed on Monday remains intact. A close above 24,000 today confirms the expiry pullback is complete and the recovery resume.

Nifty Technical Levels

Support: 23,800, 23,500, 23,300

Resistance: 24,000, 24,200, 24,500

Bank Nifty Performance

Tuesday's Bank Nifty opened at 55,311.80, hit a high of 55,536.80, a low of 54,979.75, and closed at 55,092.90 — down 200.75 points (-0.36%) — holding 55,000 on a closing basis through the expiry session, the most critical structural test passed. GIFT Nifty's flat indication keeps Bank Nifty opening near 55,092 today. The MoU's "relief for performance" principle — US blockade lifted as Iran clears mines and reopens Hormuz — is the most direct banking positive in the pipeline — crude normalisation below $90 post-signing would drive the single largest banking recovery session since the war began. RSI at 52–53 zone — holding neutral-to-bullish. MACD bullish crossover intact. A close above 55,500 today extends the recovery toward 56,000.

Bank Nifty Technical Levels

Support: 55,000, 54,500, 54,000

Resistance: 55,500, 56,000, 56,500

Asian Stocks Hit Record on Chip Rally, Oil Drops

Asian shares climbed to a record, driven by renewed momentum in technology shares and easing geopolitical tensions. Oil slipped. MSCI's Asian equities gauge rose 1.4% to an all-time high, with South Korean stocks — seen as a bellwether for AI investment — jumping as much as 5% to a peak. SK Hynix Inc. surged as much as 11% to top $1 trillion in market capitalization, helping a gauge of Asian semiconductor companies climb to an all-time high. Asian gains followed a Wall Street rally that lifted the S&P 500 and the Nasdaq 100 indexes to records on Tuesday. Chipmakers led the charge, with Micron Technology Inc. surging 19% to also top $1 trillion in market valuation. Elsewhere, expectations for the US and Iran to sign a peace deal helped Brent crude oil edge 0.9% lower to about $98.70 a barrel. Treasuries held their gains, with the yield on the benchmark 10-year at 4.48%.

Oil Dips as US Sees Progress in Iran Deal Despite Fresh Tensions

Oil edged lower on optimism that the US and Iran will reach a peace deal despite fresh hostilities and uncertainty over the vital Strait of Hormuz. Brent fell below $99 a barrel after rising almost 4% on Tuesday, while West Texas Intermediate was near $93. US Secretary of State Marco Rubio has cautioned that any peace pact would likely take a few days to finalize. Meanwhile, US forces hit targets near the strait, while the Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps said it fired at multiple US aircraft after they entered Iranian airspace.

BOJ's Ueda Warns of Oil Shock Impact on Entire Inflation Regime

- Bank of Japan Governor Kazuo Ueda indicated the need for vigilance over the impact of oil price spikes on the underlying inflation trend.
- Ueda said a temporary shock can become persistent if it changes wages, expectations and price-setting behavior, and that the boundary between temporary and persistent inflation is not mechanical.
- Ueda's remarks will likely support broad speculation in the market over the prospects for an interest rate increase when authorities next set policy on June 16.

Memory Chip Frenzy Sends SK Hynix, Micron Into $1 Trillion Club

The breakneck surge in memory-chip stocks is intensifying, sending the market capitalizations of SK Hynix Inc. and Micron Technology Inc. above $1 trillion for the first time, as investors bet the AI boom will lead to a sustained revaluation of the industry. SK Hynix rose as much as 13% in South Korea on Wednesday, taking its 12-month gain to more than 1,000% and becoming the third Asian company to join the $1 trillion club after rival memory-chip maker Samsung Electronics Co. earlier this month. Micron soared 19% on Tuesday, the most since 2011, after a UBS Group AG analyst said the stock may double over the next year. The three leading makers of high-bandwidth memory now sit at the chokepoint of the global AI buildout, with their products forming a critical bottleneck for data-center expansion. Investors and analysts expect memory shortages to last through 2027, giving them unusual pricing power over the world's largest technology companies.
